

Greetings from MIMMA!

THE INVASION CONTINUES: LAND OF THE HEADHUNTERS

Kuching, 28th MARCH 2015 – From the edge of the peninsular, we travel across the South China Sea to the land abundant with warriors and tradition. Although head hunting is no longer practiced by the locals, deep inside, the warrior spirit is always embedded within the people of Sarawak. Many of these dormant warriors shall once again be awakened as The Malaysian Invasion Mixed Martial Arts Season 3 Tryouts is in town looking for one that might be a champion from Sarawak.

This blessed state has always been known for its warriors who persist against any challenges that come their way. Season 2 saw a fighter from Sarawak, Stephen Onn ploughing through all his competitors, only to be defeated by the current Middleweight Champion during the MIMMA Grand Finals. There were also a handful of participants from Sarawak who made a huge impact. MIMMA has become a goal for most of the fighters in Sarawak. Thinking about their presence will give you goose bumps.

Jason Lo stated, "Sarawak is the land where the people are tough and they persevere in any difficult situations. They are born fighters. Sarawak is the best place to find MMA talents. I am from Kuching and I know for a fact that the Sarawakians will conquer Season 3. There are a lot of talents to be discovered in Sarawak and when they show up for the tryouts, it will be the best decision they have made in their lives so far."

He added, "In my view, personally I believe that the MIMMA Season 3 Sarawak tryouts will be massive, based on the Sarawak's warrior heritage roots. We are born as warriors and we will prove that we are going to conquer the sport."

It is estimated that Kuching's Plaza Merdeka witnessed a colossal uprising of MMA fighters during the tryouts with 150 fighters came to try their luck. The warrior spirit within shall take over the Sarawakians and East Malaysia will prove itself as a massive powerhouse for MMA in Malaysia.
